Wingatee Gets Prison Terms For Misdeeds

Defendants In Two Salem Robberies Are Also Sentenced

Tommie L. Wingatee, 43, alleged millionaire stock salesman, was sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary Friday afternoon after his plea for probation was turned down by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at hearings at Lisbon.

Another defendant was sent to a state school at Columbus, another was granted probation, and a probation hearing for still another was continued.

Wingatee, whose right name is Melvin L. Snelling, was given a term of not to exceed five years on the 10 counts of selling unregistered stock and selling stock without a license and was handed another sentence of 1-7 years on a bigamy charge.

Wingatee was convicted of selling the gold mine stock after allegedly unloading $64,000 worth of the stock on East Liverpool and Wellsville residents.

While awaiting trial, bigamy charges were filed by Mrs. LaRue Mooney of East Liverpool, Wingatee's bride of three days.

He was indicted by the January Grand Jury and pleaded guilty to marrying Mrs. Mooney while still the husband of Mrs. Agnes Snelling of Huntington Park, Calif.

Judge Sharp said the sentences will run concurrently.

Two civil cases are still pending as a result of Wingatee's adventures in East Liverpool.

Mrs. Mooney is seeking to have her marriage annulled while she has also filed suit to reclaim rings and a car turned over to one of the stock victims as restitution.

Also Sentenced

Also sentenced to the penitentiary were William Richter, 31, of Frombell, Pa., and Ralph Houshour, 37, of Franklin Square.

Richter was sentenced to a 1-25-year term on two counts of robbery and one of attempted robbery. They will run concurrently.

He was arrested in Salem last May for robbing two drycleaning plants and the attempted robbery of another.

Houshour was given a 1-5-year sentence for the burglary of a Salem home Sept. 18. Both had pleaded guilty and requested probation.

James Gardner, of Lisbon, was placed on probation for five years after pleading guilty to a charge of second degree manslaughter. He was indicted by the September grand jury following an accident last July when a 21-year-old Lisbon youth was killed. Gardner was driving the car at the time of the accident.

Judge Sharp continued the probation hearing for Teddy Flaherty, 38, of East Liverpool, who was convicted in October on charges of pointing and discharging firearms.

Harold Deely, 20, of Wellsville, was found guilty of a morals charge involving an 8-year-old Wellsville girl. He was sentenced to an indefinite term at the State School for the Feeble-minded at Columbus.

Flaherty was continued on bond while the others were returned to jail at Youngstown.

Police Nab 4 Drivers, Issue 57 Citations

Four drivers were arrested in the past 24 hours and 57 more tickets given out Friday in the Salem Police Department's continuing drive against traffic violators.

Charles Bogdan Jr., 20, of Carterville, Pa., and Robert T. Burkett, 26, of Akron were arrested and charged with reckless operation at 3:23 a.m. today on S. Lincoln Ave. Officers reported the two drivers were speeding when stopped.

Bogdan will be given a hearing before Mayor Harry M. Vincent Monday morning. Burkett was released after he posted a $25 bond.

Phillip K. Morrow, 44, of Alliance posted a $10 forfeit after he was cited by police for passing another vehicle on the W. State St. railroad crossing at 12:01 a.m. today.

A 17-year-old Canton student was arrested for driving through a red light at the intersection of N. Lincoln Ave. and E. Third St. at 11:2 p.m. Friday. He was turned over to juvenile authorities.

New Livingroom Suite Purchases Will be given a Conlon, Duchess or Universal washer (value to $159.95) for old living room suite, until 9 p.m. Mon. Eve. Salem Appliance.

GERALDINE BAGLEY, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Bagley of 458 S. Ellsworth Ave., received special recognition from Salem Girl Scouts this week on the 41st anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States.

Geraldine, who has been confined to her home for some time by illness, was presented gifts from Salem's 27 troops in accordance with Girl Scout programs for the handicapped. A student at Reilly School, Geraldine is recovering from a leg amputation.

Shown above, Mrs. Stanley Starkie, Girl Scout Council president, sits with Geraldine while she opens her presents. Taking part in the presentation, but not pictured, were scouts, Elaine Enders, Brownie Troop 22; Alice Ann McCrae, Intermediate Troop 30, and Ruth Ann Greenwood, Senior Mariner Troop 15, and Mrs. William McCrae, Mrs. F. S. Barckhoff Jr. and Mrs. Ted Enders, council members.

Fulbright Urges GOP To Back Ike's Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic senator appealed to his Republican colleagues today to support President Eisenhower's policies and nominations "for the good of the country."

Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas made the statement in an interview as Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) joined the ranks of Senate Republicans who oppose the nomination of Charles E. (Chips) Bohlen to Moscow.

The opposition to Eisenhower's selection of Bohlen expressed doubt that there are enough votes to block Bohlen's confirmation. They apparently were concentrating on trying to force its withdrawal.

Democrats support the nomination almost unanimously, according to Sen. Sparkman of Alabama, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee.

And Fulbright, another member of that committee which may call Bohlen for further testimony Tuesday, asserted:

"I believe Mr. Bohlen is well qualified to be our representative in Moscow. It is most unfortunate that in such a critical period of our relations with Russia we have no ambassador in Moscow."

"It is also unfortunate that Mr. Bohlen's name was submitted to the Senate if his confirmation is to be opposed by the Republican members of the Senate."

"For the good of the country, I sincerely hope that in some way the support of Republican members of the Senate can be obtained by the new administration for its policies and nominations."

Commissioners' Road Meetings To Continue

LISBON — Columbian County commissioners will resume meetings with township trustees Monday after they discuss the 1953 road program with six groups Friday.

The commissioners and County Engineer Charles O. Snyder discussed the road program with officials from Knox, Butler, Perry, Salem, Fairfield and Unity Townships Friday morning and afternoon.

Treasury Men Find Big Moonshine Outfit

NEW YORK (AP) — Treasury agents and city police, letting their noses be their guides, have come upon a moonshining outfit which they called the biggest in the East.

Foul-smelling wafts of air floating across the water of Upper New York Bay led officials to start an investigation about three weeks ago. Yesterday they came upon the still in an abandoned Brooklyn waterfront warehouse.

The distillery was capable of producing 2,500 gallons of 180-proof alcohol a day, federal agents said, and was costing the government $52,000 daily in unpaid taxes.

Sabres Blast 3 MIGs; Col. Baker, Top Ace, Ends Combat Flying

SEOUL (AP) — Allied Sabre jet pilots knocked down three Communist MIG-15s today and the Air Force announced the Korean War's top jet ace, Col. Royal N. Baker, would fly no more combat missions.

The Air Force said Sabre pilots, utilizing a secret radar gunsight shot down three MIG's, probably destroyed two more, and damaged two additional Red jets.

A spokesman said Baker, of McKinney, Tex., decided himself not to fly any more. As commander of the 4th Fighter-Interceptor Group, he had completed more than 125 missions. The usual number of combat missions is 100.

Supply Centers Blasted

The Air Force said its fighter-bombers swept almost to the Yalu River border of Manchuria during the day and plastered Communist supply and troop facilities.

The swirling air battles and fighter-bomber strikes climaxed the second straight day of relentless Allied blows on Red Korea.

B-57 Superforts hammered a big Red troop and supply center in Northwest Korea's MIG Alley just before midnight. The big bombers roared to within 25 miles of the Manchurian border and dropped 120 tons of high explosives on the built up area 25 miles east of Sinuiju.

Red Trucks Destroyed

Last night and early today U.S. B-57 Invader bombers prowled over North Korean highways. Pilots claimed at least 65 Red trucks destroyed. The B-57s caught a Red convoy on one road and blocked it with bombs. Then they swarmed down and riddled the trucks with bombs and machinegun fire.

Ground action was extremely light. Allied troops threw back three small Communist probes on the muddy Central and Eastern Fronts. But Allied artillery guns caught several big groups of Reds out in the open and panted them with shells.

Today's air battles were a con-

$7,124 Puts Red Cross At Halfway Mark

Red Cross workers moved confidently forward with their fund campaigning today after reports Friday afternoon showed $7,124 received.

This figure puts the campaign past the halfway mark toward the $13,788 goal.

Fund Campaign Chairman Robert Heddleston urged team workers to renew their efforts next week with the hope that the quota could be met before the official closing date at the end of the month.

Reports of the house-to-house canvassers have been encouraging, Heddleston said, and it is progressing.

Red Cross donation cards have been distributed throughout the city and many of these are yet to be collected.

Kenneth Jones is serving as co-chairman of the drive which opened March 2.

Of the $13,788 goal, $7,000 will be kept by the Salem Red Cross Chapter. The other $6,788 will be forwarded to the American Red Cross.

3 U.S. Businessmen Finance Project That Steals Red MIG

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — A former Maryland governor revealed last night how he and two of his wealthy business friends took a financial flyer in free-enterprise espionage which robbed the Communists of a top-secret jet fighter plane.

The amazing financial venture of three highly respected and widely known American businessmen into the cloak-and-dagger land of Eastern Europe espionage circles caused a series of diplomatic upheavals between the Danish government and enraged Polish officials.

Just how they did it remains a mystery for "security reasons," but a member of the American spy ring said the Polish flyer's end of the task was done for "patriotic reasons," and not for money.

The businessmen, all officers of Fairchild Aircraft Company here, are former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr., a member of the Board of Directors; Richard S. Boutelle, president of the firm; and Arthur F. Flood, executive vice president.

A retired Army officer, Col. Uliss (Pete) Amoss, who lives on Gibson Island, a quiet little retreat about 20 miles southeast of Baltimore, master-minded the plan.

The scheme, which began about a year ago, was climaxized March 5 when a Polish Air Force lieutenant landed on the Danish-owned EVEN DOZEN — Col. Royal N. Baker of McKinney, Tex., has shot down his 12th MIG to become the world's leading jet ace. Baker has decided to fly no more combat missions. As commander of the 4th Fighter-Interceptor Wing, he made the decision himself, after having completed more than 125 missions. The usual number of combat missions is 100. Of his latest kill Baker said "I wish I could have gotten two—that would have made a proper Baker's dozen. His plane, a Sabrejet, is equipped with a new radar gunsight.

But the sudden demise of the dictator who succeeded the late Edward Benes as president in 1948 struck Western observers as a queer coincidence. There were some here who hinted he might have been "purged" by the new regime in the Kremlin because it feared he might become a Tito.

Perhaps significantly the Prague radio followed up the announcement of the death by declaring, "those attempting to destroy the unity of Czechoslovakia will be mercilessly wiped out."

This was after the pattern of Moscow's radio appeals for unity around the new Soviet prime minister, Georgi Malenkov, after Stalin's death.

Successor Unknown

There was no hint as to who will succeed Gottwald. There is a possibility that the post of president may be abolished and ruling power placed in the hands of a group of likely contenders for the No. 1 spot.

The four likeliest contenders for the throne are Antonin Zapotocky, the prime minister; Vilem Sirok, deputy prime minister; Karol Bacilek, national security minister, and Alexei Cepicka, Gottwald's son-in-law and defense minister.

Gottwald wielded broad powers in Prague. He was not only president, but boss of the Communist party and commander-in-chief of both the army and the secret police. No other functionary in a Communist satellite had as much power, at least in name.

Gottwald's illness did not become known to the world until late Friday when Prague radio announced it. Like the Moscow radio in Stalin's illness, it accompanied the announcement with solemn music and frequent broadcasts of medical bulletins signed by many doctors.

Some of the doctors were Russians.

The Prague radio announced Gottwald died at 9 a.m. (5 a.m. EST) today.

"Everything possible was done to save his life," an official announcement issued by the president's office said.

At his bedside, said the announcement, were many famous Soviet specialists, together with the nation's top doctors.

Russian Parliament To Approve Malenkov

MOSCOW (AP) — The 1,000 delegates of the Supreme Soviet—the Russian Parliament—meet tomorrow amid expectations they will okay the selection of Georgi Malenkov as prime minister succeeding the late Joseph Stalin.

The Soviet press announced last night how he and two of his wealthy business friends took a financial flyer in free-enterprise espionage which robbed the Communists of a top-secret jet fighter plane.

The amazing financial venture of three highly respected and widely known American businessmen into the cloak-and-dagger land of Eastern Europe espionage circles caused a series of diplomatic upheavals between the Danish government and enraged Polish officials.

Just how they did it remains a mystery for "security reasons," but a member of the American spy ring said the Polish flyer's end of the task was done for "patriotic reasons," and not for money.

The flyer, Lt. Franciszek Jarewski, will probably be given the protection of formal recognition as a political refugee on next Monday, according to an announcement last night from the Danish Foreign Office.

Leaning On The Everlasting Arms
A singing master reads his mail

Prof. A. J. Showalter dismissed his class, collected his song books, locked the little church and drove his nag across town to the rooming house where he had put up for his stay in North brought news identical to that of the first Two former pupils, had each lost his wife on the same day.

In an effort to console his two young friends,

Showalter wrote, "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms." He paused, put down his pen. In that line of Scripture lay the theme for a song. His pupils could read music. They could sing. He knew because he had taught them. Why not a song of comfort instead of a letter? He wrote a chorus and sent it to the Rev. Elisha Hoffman in Pennsylvania. Elisha Hoffman, author of "I Must Tell Jesus," "Glory To His Name" and 2000 other hymns, wrote three verses and sent them back to Showalter in Alabama. Showalter wrote music that tied in with his chorus.

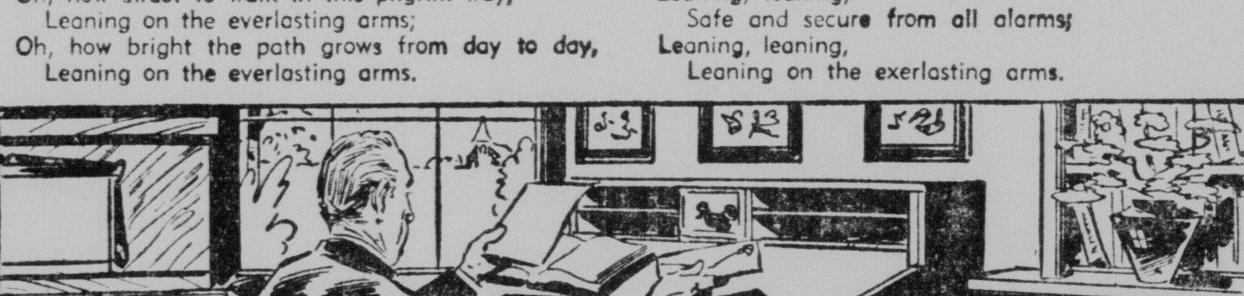

At even three score and ten, in 1927, A. J. Showalter led his last earthly singing at Chattanooga, Tenn. He left behind "O Thou That Hearest Prayer."

The Light of the World is Jesus," and hundreds of other Christian songs. He left also thousands of students and millions of song books from one end of America to the other. Because he spent his life in the South, A. J. Showalter will probably be remembered longest in the South. But after his name has been forgotten, the world will be singing this hymn . . . written because A. J. Showalter wanted to console two bereaved young men.

What have I to dread, what have I to fear,
Leaning on the everlasting arms;
What a blessedness, what a peace is mine,
Leaning on the everlasting arms.

Refrain:
Leaning, leaning,
Safe and secure from all alarms;
Leaning, leaning,
Leaning on the everlasting arms.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Making Your Future Come True

I met a man recently who told me that the future held nothing for him. He said despondently, "I have had about all out of life that there is, and from now on it's just going to be the same old thing all over again."

Second, print your objective in your mind. The subconscious mind tends to develop and actualize that which is printed on the conscious mind.

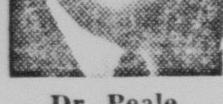

Third, affirm that you are achieving your objective; not that you are going to achieve it, but that you are now achieving it.

Fourth, work with all the force at your command to attain it.

And fifth, leave the outcome humbly in the hands of God.

These are the five steps by which you can carry out the creative law which will make your future what you want it to be. If your objective is a right one and God gives you His guidance; if you print it on your mind and affirm that you are achieving; if you work as hard as you can to get it; and if you trust to God to make everything come out right, nothing can stand in your way.

You can make your future what you want.

This man was an old man, although he told me that he was only 52. On the very same day, my publishers received a letter from another man ordering a copy of my most recent book. The man wrote that he was 105 and the oldest living lawyer in the United States. He said that he had made a study of many things, but that now he wanted to take up the question of positive thinking. His letter went on, "It just occurred to me that if I study up on positive thinking, I would do better in the years that lie ahead of me."

I would not be at all surprised if that man lived to be 125. But regardless of how long he may live, he has learned that he is the master of life itself, because he has discovered that one can, with the help of God, create an ever-expanding future for himself.

ALBERT EINSTEIN once said that he never gives any thought to the future because the future will catch up to him soon enough. I'm not smart enough to understand most of Einstein's thinking, but I do know that the average person has profound interest in the future. And I do not believe that you are an entirely normal person unless from time to time you ask yourself, "What will happen in the days ahead; what will my future be?"

Some people go to palmists and fortune tellers and astrologers to find out about their future. But I have concluded that there is a better place to read the future than from the stars or the palms of the hand — you can read it from what is in your heart.

The wisest of all books, the Bible says, "Out of the heart are the issues of life." This means simply that you create your future from what is in the depths of your personality. What is in you determines what you finally attain in the way of a happy, useful, worthwhile life. If your heart is sturdy, if it is filled with faith, if it is packed with earnestness, it will give you all you need to muster all your force. Then you will attain the glorious future that God has laid up for those who have it in them.

The way to do this is to use an amazing law. Speaking personally, this formula is the most valuable truth ever learned. It is the creative law of the universe.

To attain something, how may you most successfully do it?

FIRST, PRAY about it. Why pray? To get guidance, to be sure what you're asking for is right — if it isn't, it's wrong. And a

Bishop Walsh Lists Transfers

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Bishop Emeritus M. Walsh of the Youngstown Roman Catholic Diocese has appointed Rev. James Channell of Youngstown as assistant director of Central Catholic High School in Canton and chaplain of Canton Timken Mercy Hospital.

Rev. Channell has been assistant pastor of Sacred Heart Church here. Rev. B. Holcomb, former Timken Mercy Hospital chaplain, was placed on sick leave.

Other transfers were: The Rev. John Daum, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church in Warren, to chaplain of the Newman Club at Kent State University; Rev. Richard Buechmann, assistant pastor of Immaculate Conception Church in Ravenna, to St. Mary's of Massillon; Rev. Thomas McNalley, from Immaculate Conception of Canton to assistant at Holy Rosary at Lowellville.

enings in their hall. The birthdays of Edith Boston, Hazel Booth, Celesta Franklin, Maude Guchmand, Clara Pregenzer, Margaret Spear and Gertrude Stouffer will be celebrated. Practice for inspection will also be held, and officers and staff members are urged to be present. The meeting will start at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lippitt have received the following address for their son Eugene: Pvt. E. H. Lippitt R.A. 15 495 737; Ward 4A Sec. 10 Percy Jones Army Hospital; Battle Creek, Mich. He arrived at the hospital Saturday from the Lockbourne Air Force Base Hospital near Columbus, and is reported improving.

Seven tables of cards were displayed at the benefit card party sponsored by the Pythian Sisters in their hall Tuesday evening. Mrs. Fred Girard and William Grim won high score in "500". Mrs. Kathryn Mosser of Leetonia and Mrs. Louis Atkinson won the special prize.

The Brownie Troop met Tuesday after school in the home of their leader Mrs. Albert Weikart. Jean Hartley called the roll. Plans had been made to go on a hike but because of bad weather they were unable to go. Games and songs entertained the 14 Brownies present. In the future meetings will be held on Monday after school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stouffer entertained at a dinner Tuesday evening honoring the 89th birthday of Mrs. Stouffer's father Harvey Baker. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Baker and Lester Stewart of Salem. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stouffer and daughter Sally, and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Stouffer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spear and daughters spent the weekend in the home of Mrs. Spear's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Verner Carrick at Lafayette.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tetlow of Salem spent the weekend in the home of their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Lester Spear.

Mrs. Oren McClan was a Youngstown visitor on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Fails and Mrs. R. A. Cruthers of Oberlin were weekend visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Weikart.

Friends here have received word of the death of Mrs. Charles Oswald of Cleveland. Saturday she was the former Mary Stoffer of Washington.

The Pythian Sisters will hold their regular meeting Tuesday evening.

DISCUSSING THE HIGH POINTS

We never learn all we are taught!

In religious education, as in secular, certain truths are grasped immediately; others are stored away in the mind to be understood later; and some are promptly forgotten.

When your child comes home from Church School each Sunday he has grasped a few "high points" of the lesson. You can encourage him by talking them over.

He also brings home each Sunday certain impressions. He cannot express or understand them. But they are seeds which, if nourished in a Christian home, will blossom into moral and spiritual character.

But your child leaves behind him many truths which are essential to a mature soul. These "lost" ideas will be re-learned in future experiences at Church. That's why religious training must be continuous.

Wise parents study their faith with their children. In our local

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his child's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Full-Time Job

President Eisenhower's first reshuffling—the executive order creating a Department of Welfare, with a secretary of cabinet rank—is confirmation of a decision made long ago but sidetracked until Oscar R. Ewing left the federal government.

Ewing, as federal security administrator, had stirred up so many misgivings about his attitude on socialized medicine that Congress could not have resolved them in his favor though it was ready to create a Department of Welfare. Therefore, the group of agencies which had been brought into FSA had to wait on his departure to get departmental status.

Oveta Culp Hobby, who succeeded Ewing, thus is to become in fact what she has been since last Jan. 20 in conjecture—the first woman member of a Republican presidential cabinet. The cabinet finally is restored to a full strength of ten.

This was the cabinet strength reached in 1913 when the Commerce Department and Labor Department were divided. The total dropped to nine in 1947, when the Department of War and the Department of Navy were consolidated with a new Department of Air into an over-all Department of Defense.

Skip The Politics

A squabbly unworthy of the occasion which prompted it has been started in Congress over the draft resolution on repudiating wartime agreements with the Soviet Union.

Some Republican members would like to rub it into their Democratic associates that these agreements were made by two Democratic presidents, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman.

The Democrats, challenged to defend themselves against an insult, are threatening to kill the resolution if it contains anything derogatory to their party. No one can blame them.

It was not the intent of President Eisenhower and his administration to reopen political wounds with the draft resolution; it is strictly a move to clear the diplomatic decks for the reorientation of foreign policy in the light of the Soviet Union's studied efforts to disregard the original agreements.

Whatever recriminations are called for have been made in political and popular discussions which have had the advantage of hindsight. If mistakes were made—and mistakes were made—they can be dealt with by the judgment of history.

Strict Attention To Duty

Among many questions raised by the recent words and acts of Rep. Harold H. Velde of Illinois, chairman of the House un-American Activities Committee, is this one:

Who decides what it is proper for Americans to do?

Rep. Velde's latest target as a congressional investigator is the ministry—"individual members of the cloth, including some who seem to have devoted more time to politics than to the ministry."

There are legislators, on the other hand, who devote more time to investigating than law-making, union executives who put politics ahead of organized labor, business executives who expand more effort on public affairs than they expand on their own businesses, politicians who become obsessed with the idea they are running newspapers.

They are backseat riders who try to drive automobiles by remote controls and knuckleheads who would like to tell everybody else what to think, though being unable to think, themselves. Rep. Velde is starting to fill a large order if he is going to decide what all of us should be doing while he is doing something some of us suspect he doesn't understand very well.

For Shame, False Prophets

The U.S. weatherman at Cleveland, fed up with caterpillar fuzz and sleepy groundhogs, flipped his climatological wig the other day and issued this challenge:

"Let there come forward now any man, woman, or child, moron or genius, dilettante or savant who forecast this winter to be as mild as it was. Let him rise now and take the bow that he deserves."

No one came forward. No one will. We are among those who must remain mute and uncomfortable.

Our trouble was cowardice.

We wished it would be a mild winter for the sake of the fuel bill. But we lacked the courage to say so. This was not the case with those who wanted to sell fuel, anti-freeze, tire chains, heavy clothing, storm windows, snow shovels, snow-removal equipment, overshoes, heavy socks, fur coats, gloves, firewood, insulating material and reading matter for long winter evenings.

They talked freely. They always do. That is why no one ever predicts a mild, open winter. The reason is crassly commercial.

Spiritual Diary for Lent

Lead me to the rock that is higher than I.—Psalm 61:2.

"Lord, lift me up and let me stand,
By faith on Heaven's table-land,
A higher plane than I have found,
Lord, plant my feet on higher ground."

Today's Message

To be content to live on the human level is to invite trouble, misery, defeat. To reach our decisions, make our plans, and seek to pilot our lives without God, is to court disaster. To eliminate God is to live on man's level, which means, ultimately, personal defeat and social ruin.

The ancient writer calls us to the heights. How to rise to the heights is a vital question. Let me make two or three suggestions. First, we must decide that we want to rise to new and loftier planes. There must be a divine dissatisfaction with the levels upon which we have lived. This must be followed by the marshalling of our will power and strength to begin immediately the journey toward the heights. To associate ourselves with others who have similar purposes and aspirations will help us. To have companions along the high road is to make our journey doubly sure, and thrice blessed. But the fixed purposes of our minds and the companionship of others are not enough. "Lead me" must be the prayer of our hearts, directed to the One who never fails us. With the prayer must go our submitted wills and confident faith that the invisible hand is extended, and that He will deliver our feet from falling, our eyes from tears, our souls from death.

—J. A. Ellis

Today's Prayer

Almighty God, teach us that there is but one way to the heights. Wilt Thou place our feet this day on the high road and lead us in the way everlasting. Amen.

Airmen Attacked To Test West's Muscles

The strange fiction that Soviet Russia and the Western Powers are "at peace with each other" and that they are still allied against their old enemy—Nazi Germany—has been dramatically upset by the recent attacks on British and American planes flying over German territory which is supposed to be divided into "occupied zones" according to a four-power agreement growing out of World War II.

If Soviet Russia, Britain and the United States are still "Allies," then the Communist air planes shouldn't be shooting down British and American airmen. Allies don't fire on each other's soldiers.

If there is any misunderstanding as to the exact location of a border line based on midair calculations by jets flying 600 miles or more an hour, this is something for another four-power agreement to smooth out. Friendly signals to avoid clashes can be devised. Innocent airmen who didn't fire a shot in return should not have been the victims of the acts of an "ally."

But if the assumption that the Soviets and the British and Americans are allied in guarding the zones of Germany is incorrect, and the major powers now are "enemies" of one another, then the chances of an ultimate outbreak of World War III have been advanced by what has just happened.

If the Soviet Union is intent on demonstrating to her people and to the peoples of her satellites that the Western Powers are too weak or too pacifist-minded to resist, there may be a surprise coming to Moscow. History has shown that peace-loving countries can be pushed into war when it is apparent that no other course is left.

Fortunately there is an alternative. It is to exert economic as well as military pressure to a limited extent and to guard the borders of the occupied zones so that any "enemy" aircraft will receive the same treatment that has been meted out to the airmen of the Western countries.

If the Soviets do not mean "war," what else could they mean? It is possible that the latest outcropping of belligerency is a shrewd tactic to cause American and British jets which were destined for Korea and the Far East to be held up because European needs would require a diversion to Europe of the limited number of such aircraft now available.

Once the United Nations offensive in Korea and the build-up of the Nationalist air strength on Formosa is effectively stymied by such a maneuver, the Soviet Union might cease its attacks on American and British airmen and start another round of "peace" statements. It could all be a part of the strategy, therefore, related to the Far Eastern war.

But whatever it is, the Allies cannot afford to assume the episode is meaningless and let the Soviets get the impression that they can encroach at will and commit any acts of aggression and that no note-writing emotionalism will ensue.

So far as other retaliatory measures are concerned, a naval blockade of all communication with Soviet Russia and China in the Far East would be an effective instrument of economic pressure.

Forays into Western Germany by Soviet aircraft also could be regarded as justifying American aircraft in beginning forays into Manchuria, where destruction of the bases would immeasurably help to win the Korean War. If wartime agreements as to borders among allies are being scrapped in Europe, they need not be recognized by airplanes in Asia, either.

In fact, Soviet planes have recent-

Beria's Hatchet Hangs Over Malenkov

By GAULT MacGOWAN

PARIS, Lavrenti P. Beria, chief of Russia's secret police, already is jockeying for the power to take over full control of the Soviet Union, according to well-informed quarters here.

The Soviet Union is now producing approximately as much steel as Britain, France, Belgium and Sweden combined.

He is generally regarded as the most ruthless of Stalin's successors in the Kremlin. Like the deceased premier, Beria is a native of Georgia.

Vyacheslav M. Molotov, the diplomat, and Georgi M. Malenkov, the higher-educated economist, are not regarded here as matches for Beria when it comes to fire-eating.

Like Heinrich Himmler, who created Hitler's Black SS guards so that he could strut in the general's uniform, the Wehrmacht would not give him, Beria has created a terrorist force of secret police that could swing him to power in a crisis. Intimate of Stalin since early Bolshevik days, Beria knows the tactics of getting power and holding it.

Stalin was not the chosen successor of Lenin. Lenin warned against him, but, with the aid of Beria, he rid himself of his rivals in successive purges that consolidated his position.

War threats from the outside world would give Beria the chance to seek a new chain of executions and assassinations.

Gradually Molotov and Malenkov, Stalin's heir apparent, would find themselves isolated until they were the prisoners of Beria.

Beria's machine keeps the millions in regimented discipline to the Communist regime. Without it, the U.S.S.R. would not work.

No soldier, Beria likes to pose as an iron man, though the photographs of him that reach the outside world are posed and doctored to make him look an inoffensive intellectual. He wears nose-fitting eye-glasses like Himmler and, like Himmler, holds a pose of boundless subservience to his master that brought him to the position of third man in the Red triumvirate.

As boss of the sinister secret

By Galbraith

Communism!"

Beria's chance came to expand his empire when war gave Russia the satellite states. Now he is internal security boss of them all.

His order has called all Communist leaders of the slave states to Moscow for an emergency conference. Purpose No. 1 is to make them answerable with their heads for any revolt that might follow the death of Stalin.

President Eisenhower has appealed to the men who will rule Russia in the future to keep the peace. Fifty-two-year-old Malenkov, supported by 63-year-old Molotov, are frightened men and do not want war. Malenkov's name is said to be in a sealed envelope in the Kremlin archives that contains Stalin's nomination as his successor.

Lenin nominated Trotsky, yet Stalin won and Trotsky was murdered in Mexico.

Had Stalin trusted Beria to be his successor and maintain his policies, it would have been easy for him to build the 54-year-old hatchet man to succeed him. Beria, instead, has been under a cloud recently. Toughness now with the Kremlin might give Beria the chance he wants to even scores.

Diplomatic circles here believe that a peaceful succession may pay off best to the West than an internal revolution at the Kremlin that would put a greater tyrant than Stalin in power.

On his birthday, if at no other time, a taxpayer is entitled to a few foolish opinions:

It is an egg-headed practice for the Bureau of Internal Revenue to collect and then give back withholding taxes from college students who hold summer jobs.

The best but hardest way to keep from wasting time in any argument is to shut up and let the other fellow hang himself in his own prejudices.

The unhappiest habit victims, next to those who can't handle alcohol or are being ridden to their graves by dope, are millions of cigarette smokers who want to get off the weed and can't make the break.

Truck drivers who do driving in ordinary automobiles on their day off curse trucks just like everybody else; then curse the drivers of passenger cars when they go back to truck-driving.

Baseball would be more wholesome for youngsters to watch if the managers and players would quit their senseless and endless abuse of umpires, planting the idea that if you make a pest of yourself it pays.

Commercialized football will be taken over within 10 years by the out-and-out professionals, who will draw their players from a few dozen colleges which will exist for no other purpose than to support professional football.

The most catastrophic thing about a business recession will be the run-for-the-hills psychology of economic softies who have never known what it's like to root, hog, or die.

The best break ballet dancing ever had is television, which gives the audience a chance to see the choreography from a vantage point previously monopolized by cheap Johns in the second balcony.

The Eisenhower administration needs to make a long gain around end, complete a forward pass, or get off a quick-kick soon, lest the customers reach the conclusion the much-touted businessman team is floundering.

Stalin's Last Testament

Being of sound mind (and veto) I Josef Stalin declare this my last will and testament:
1. To George Malenkov, Lavrenti P. Beria and Vyacheslav M. Molotov I leave my routines, formulae, road maps and world ambitions, giving to each a copy of my instructions on how to sleep with one eye open, and of my book "Trust One Another but Check All Floor cracks."

I bequeath to George Malenkov all my costumes for the top role in the operas, "Call Me Brother," "I Am a Dovecote" and "Iren Curious Love Song"; also my armored cars, secret panels, smoke screens, etc. I further bequeath to Malenkov my own certified 1st of Russian inventors, and the famous Josef Stalin "Funnies," otherwise known as the official pictures taken with Roosevelt, Churchill and Truman at Potsdam, Teheran and Yalta. I wish Georgi luck. In this business you'll need it.

2. To the United Nations I bequeath my cast-off spiked shoes, my last year's lead pipe inscribed "Brotherhood," my brass knuckles with the inscription "Love Is Like That"; my new device "DX-5" for magnifying the voices of all Russian speakers in the General Assembly, my entire collection of sleeves employed in Kremlin "Laughings-up-the-Sleeves." (I also bequeath it to Gromyko.)

3. I leave to the Polish and Czechoslovak delegates to U.N. complete copies of all speeches made by Kremlin delegates in the last five years with instructions never to change a line or syllable even in fun.

4. To all gullible, baffled, uninformed, dissatisfied peoples, especially those out of touch with events and facts, I leave my slogan for happier days "Do It My Way or Else!" my book "If It Makes Sense It's a Lie" and the world-famous Stalin collection of Upside Down Pictures.

5. To Comrade Vishinsky I bequeath a sufficient sum to cover tips homeward on the Liberte, pay for the sleeping pills en route, and a place on the All-Moscow video panel of "What's My Line?"

6. I bequeath to all my former allies, protectors and buddies in the last world war my paintings "The Iceman Cometh," "Friendship My Eye," "Never Give a Sucker An Even Break" and "We Went Thatta-way"; also my still-life entitled "Double Cross With Apples and Watercress." (And they can now have that ice-breaker. I won't need it where I am.)

Salem Chapter, Eastern Stars Has Anniversary Celebration

The 42nd birthday of Salem Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was celebrated Friday night at the Masonic Temple with a dinner and entertainment.

The dinner was prepared by Miss Alma Auld and Mrs. Arthur Greenmyer and their committee.

Purple hydrangea, yellow daffodils and coral geraniums were used in the attractive table decorations by Mrs. Ray Pearce and her committee.

Masons, under the direction of Mrs. John Tibball and Mrs. William Davis, served the dinner.

Welcoming the group were Worthy Matron Mrs. R. W. Broome and Worthy Patron Roy O. Merrill. A letter from the first Worthy Matron, Mrs. Carrie B. Turner, was read.

Associate Patron Virgil Edgerton, was presented a decorated cake complete with candles in honor of his birthday.

The acting program chairman, Mrs. Rudolph Linder, introduced Mrs. Rollin Herron who offered two vocal selections, "My Wild Irish Rose" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. J. Hunston.

Miss Irene Weeks, dramatics coach of Salem High School, introduced a cast of Thespians including Gail Brown, Bob Domenecetti, Helen Dora Copacia, Gretchen Bodenforter, Pat Schmidt and Ingrid Nyberg, who presented a one act play, "Stony's Bride."

The stage committee was comprised of Jon Zeigler, Ronny Slutz, Pat Ross, Sally Sculion, Carol Middleker, Charles Rogers, Dick Ward, and bookholder Sally Moore.

The well presented comedy, enthusiastically received by the audience, concluded the program.

At the same time the Winona Sunday School will take part in a similar contest within the Sunday School. On the contest committee are Clyde Hendershot, Sunday School superintendent; Mrs. Paul Brantingham and Maynard Brantingham.

Paul Rohr, Mrs. Clyde Hendershot and Mrs. Lowell Ewing comprise the award committee. On the record committee are Joan Altouse, Patricia Sell, Mrs. Herman Noling and John Paul Brantingham.

Winners of the contest will be treated by the losers at an achievement dinner, which will be planned as a family affair. The achievement committee includes Mr. Hendershot, Dawson Irey and Homer Althouse. Three awards will be presented each side in the contest.

Members are urged to bring visitors to Sunday School. At the worship service this Sunday morning Rev. Brantingham will preach on "God's Antidote for Vanity."

MEETING SCHEDULED Members of the Salem High School class of 1943 who are planning a reunion dinner-dance will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the parlor of the Memorial building. Dick Culberson is committee chairman.

At present Ecuador is under government control," she says. "This is a lovely place and although almost on the equator the snow capped mountains that surround it temper the climate and make it springtime here. The beautiful snow capped peaks look right down upon the city and are in plain view.

"Ecuador has a large Indian population and Ibarra is full of natives. They are very picturesque in their costumes. In fact it seems the majority of the people are Indians."

The missionary describes the daily market as having all kinds of fruits and vegetables for sale, both from tropical and temperate zones. "It is wonderful to have nice apples like in the United States. Colombian apples are like a walnut and not fit even for pigs," she writes. Mrs. Berchtold writes that the only vegetable she has not seen is an American cucumber. She also describes the city as very modern, with wide streets which are kept very clean. This city was once destroyed by an earthquake and rebuilt in modern fashion," she wrote.

Mrs. Helen Wayne has returned to her home in Texas, after spending 18 days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brenner, and her sister, Viola, at RD 2, Salem. Mrs. Wayne's husband, S-Sgt. Homer J. Wayne, is stationed at Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth.

Committees soon will collect articles before April 11.

Proceeds from the benefit will go towards a fund that will help to build a small clinic in this area.

Anyone having furniture, books, antiques or collector items in their attics and basements which they wish to contribute, may do so.

Library Story Hour Fascinates Children

Mrs. Howard Beilhart of 314 E. Second St. has been conducting the Saturday "story hour" at the Salem Public Library for the past two years. During the week she is librarian in the children's department.

Mrs. Beilhart received her library degree at Kent State University, where she also took special training in working with children.

Stories are told in the library functions of several existing garden clubs in the area.

Mrs. Huffman helped the group to organize the club, known as the "Country Gardens Club."

Mrs. Burt Coburn was chosen president with Mrs. Eldon Groves as first vice president and Mrs. Willis Zimmerman, second vice president. Mrs. Oliver Duke was named secretary. Members decided to hold meetings once a month on the second Thursday.

The first meeting will be held April 14 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Coburn on Cemetery Hill road. Roll call will be answered by naming "my favorite house plant and why." Arrangements made from dried mats will be brought to this meeting by Mrs. Chris Perrott, Mrs. Andrew Vaughn and Mrs. Virgil Whitney.

Anyone interested in becoming a member should contact Mrs. Coburn at 4050 or Mrs. Duke at 4020.

The missionary expresses her deep sorrow for the Colombian Christians, "who face worse than death."

"At present Ecuador is under government control," she says. "This is a lovely place and although almost on the equator the snow capped mountains that surround it temper the climate and make it springtime here. The beautiful snow capped peaks look right down upon the city and are in plain view.

"Ecuador has a large Indian population and Ibarra is full of natives. They are very picturesque in their costumes. In fact it seems the majority of the people are Indians."

The missionary describes the daily market as having all kinds of fruits and vegetables for sale, both from tropical and temperate zones. "It is wonderful to have nice apples like in the United States. Colombian apples are like a walnut and not fit even for pigs," she writes. Mrs. Berchtold writes that the only vegetable she has not seen is an American cucumber. She also describes the city as very modern, with wide streets which are kept very clean. This city was once destroyed by an earthquake and rebuilt in modern fashion," she wrote.

The evening was spent rolling bandages. Hospital sewing will be done March 25 at the home of Mrs. August Farni of 808 E. Fifth.

The next regular meeting will be held April 9.

Lisbon Blue Devils Drop Heartbreaker To Girard, 45-44

Girard Battles Timken Tonight

Lisbon Ousted After Hard Uphill Fight

Fighting doggedly all the way, but managing at only one time to take the lead over their Girard opponents, Lisbon's Blue Devils went down to a heart-breaking 45-44 defeat in the Class A regional semi-final game played in Youngstown Friday night.

In the other fray, Canton Timken rolled over Martins Ferry, 76-66. Girard and Timken will tangle tonight in the regional finals for a crack at the state finals to be held in Cincinnati next week.

In the Lisbon-Girard game, the Blue Devils found themselves on the short end of an 8-1 score early in the first quarter. Shooting with deadly accuracy, Girard scored five of its first six attempts. Dean Nicholson tied up the score for Lisbon at 11-11 with 2:41 left in the first period.

Krivaic and Vaughan came back for Girard with a field goal apiece to make the score 15-11 at the end of the frame.

Starting out strong in the second quarter, Girard quickly amassed a 10-point lead. Gurski came back for Lisbon with five points to make the total, 23-19. The period ended with Girard holding the heavy side of a 23-23 score.

Girard continued strong in the third quarter, holding an 11-point lead with three minutes left to play in the period. Woods and Rutecki each hit a field goal for Lisbon and Rose made a foul to end the frame with Girard still ahead, 39-33.

Or a fast break going into the final period, Rose made a field goal and a foul to make the score 39-36. With 6:59 left in the frame, another foul by Rose boosted the Blue Devils to 37 points. Then Nicholson hit from the side and Cornelli got through to put Lisbon in the lead for the first time in the game, 41-39.

Vaughan came back for Girard from underneath to tie the score again and Krivaic netted a rebound to put Girard ahead, 42-41. With 2:59 left in the stanza, Rose tied the score again, 43-43.

The deciding points came with one minute left to play when Vaughan got loose with a hook-shot for a goal. Lisbon missed one chance and Girard promptly froze the ball.

Nicholson tied up Zurawick with 16 seconds left to play. With the clock ticking down to six seconds, Rutecki missed a shot but grabbed the rebound and was fouled.

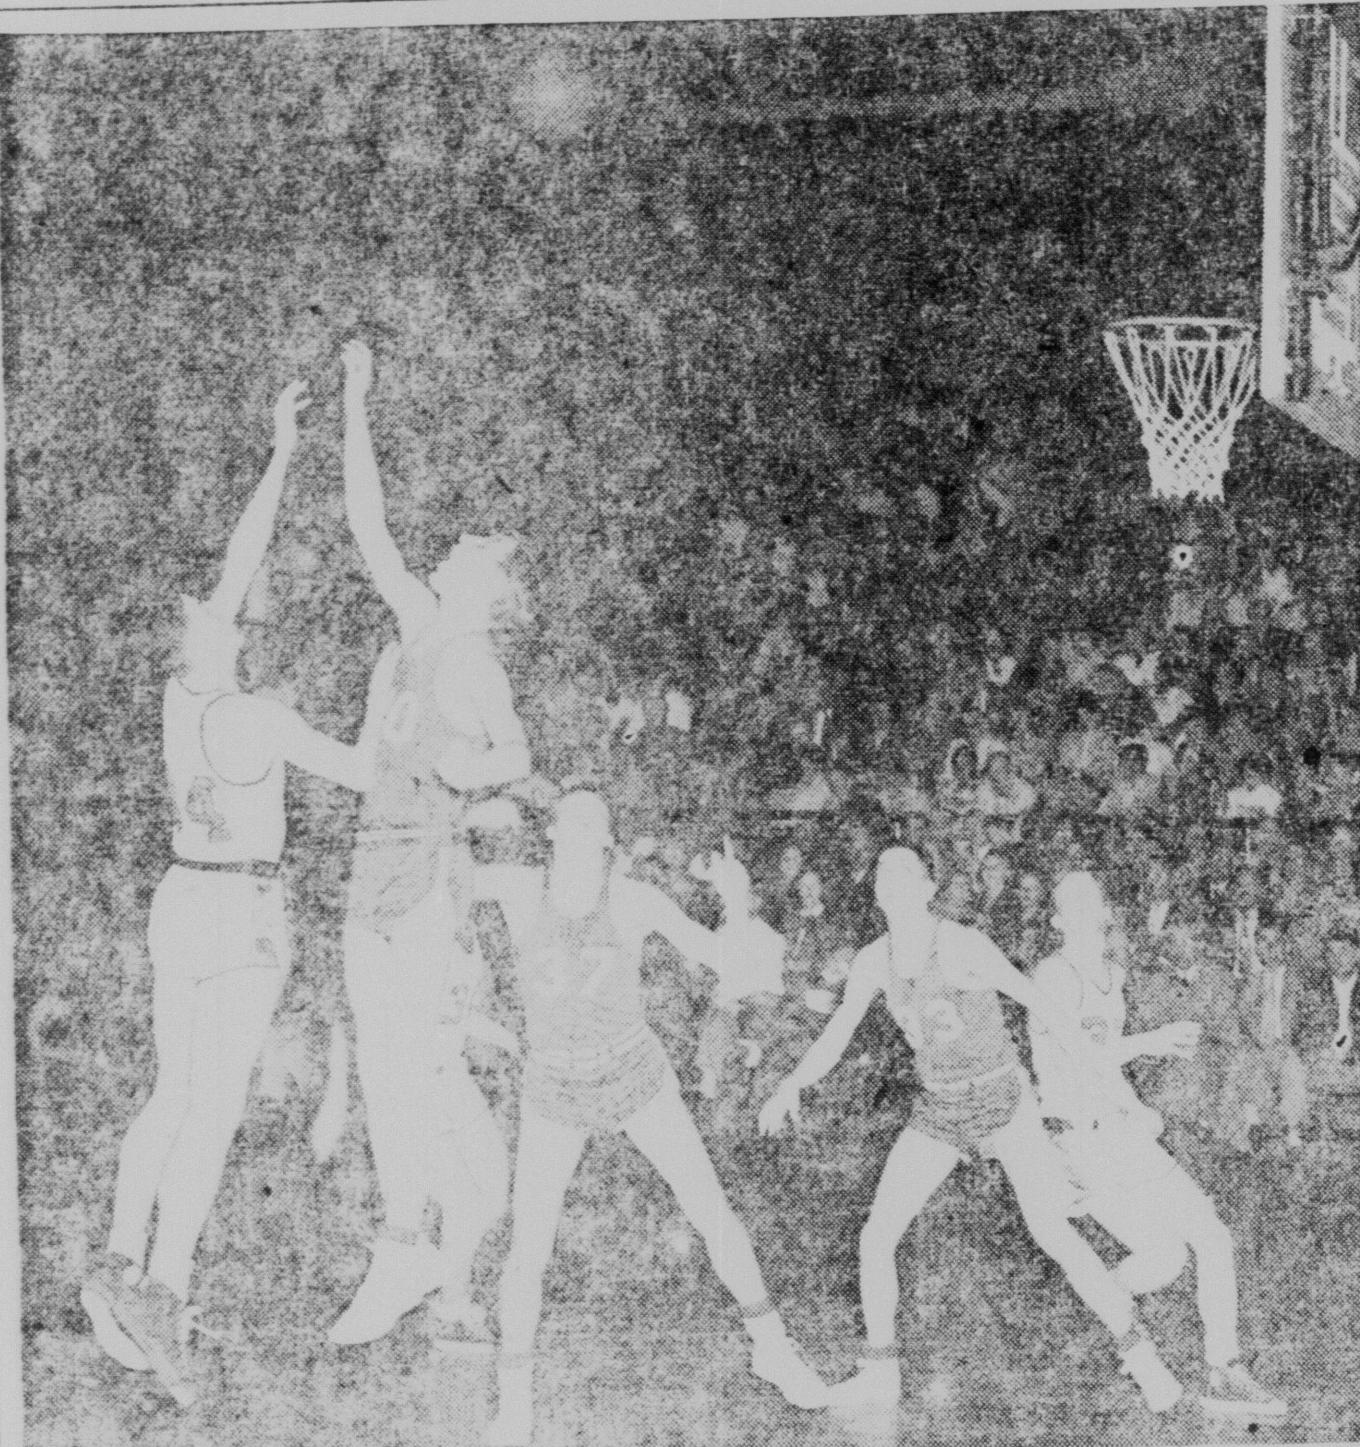

He made the first shot, bringing the score to 44-45, but missed his second chance and the game was over.

Vaughan was the big gun for Girard during the night's battle, amassing a total of 13 points. For the Blue Devils, Nicholson and Rose led the attack, scoring 11 and 12 points, respectively.

The loss was a hard one for Coach Jack Mills' boys whose previous record stood at 13-7. Lisbon had given Youngstown North a resounding beating, 75-53, last Saturday to earn the Blue Devils a niche in the regionals.

Favorites Line Up For Final Round In 4 Regional Tournaments Of NCAA Cage Playoffs

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

With a possible exception or two, the favorites lined up today for the final round in the four regional tournaments of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Baskeball championship.

Here is how they'll square off tonight in the regional finals with the winners earning the right to move on to Kansas City for the final rounds next Tuesday and Wednesday.

At Raleigh, N. C.—Louisiana State, Southeastern Conference champion, vs. Holy Cross, New England representative.

At Chicago—Indiana, King of the Big Ten, vs. Notre Dame last survivor of the Midwest independents.

At Manhattan, Kan.—Kansas, defending titlists and Big Seven champion, vs. Oklahoma Aggies, Missouri Valley Conference winners.

At Corvallis, Ore.—Washington, Pacific Coast champions, vs. Santa Clara, an at-large representative.

The only games that resembled upsets last night were Holy Cross 73-71 conquest of Wake Forest, winner of the Southern Conference tournament, and Santa Clara's 67-52 defeat of Wyoming of the Skyline Conference.

Lakewood Valley, sentimental favorite by reason of its size, bowed to LSU, 80-56.

Indiana was forced to go all out before edging De Paul, 82-80, and Notre Dame had to break out with a 17-point surge in the last five minutes to eliminate Pennsylvania and All-American, Ernie Beck, 69-57.

Kansas blanked Oklahoma City 73-65, after Oklahoma A&M aside, 73-65, after Oklahoma A&M closed fast for a 71-54 decision over Texas Christian.

Out on the West Coast, All-American

Ica Bob Houbregs and his Washington teammates were too much for All-American Johnny O'Brien and his Seattle mates, winning 92-27 points.

Bob Mattick's 35 points were instrumental in the Oklahoma Aggies' win after TCU had taken a 20-28 halftime lead. Gil Reigh, former Army football star, dropped in 20 points for Kansas, but he suffered a rib injury and may be lost for the game against the Aggies.

Reigh was hit in the ribs by an elbow in the first half but played the remainder of the game without telling Coach Flog Allen of the severe pain.

Togo Palazzi was good for 32 points as Holy Cross avenged the 91-63 licking they had taken from the Huskies staved off a last-minute rally by De Paul. With a minute last December, Dickie Henrie was to go, De Paul trailed by seven for the Deacons with 23.

Smith Faces Draft, May Miss All-Star Tilt

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE — Ohio's No. 1 high school football player of the 1952 campaign—Carl Smith of Washington Court House—will not be playing any college football until after a military service stint.

Smith, a hard-as-a-rock 200-pounder who set a new Class A high school scoring record of 294 points last fall as he led the local club to nine straight victories, was bound for Ohio State until his draft board stepped in.

Smith was 20 years old about 10 days after the season closed. He has had his army physical examination and passed it; his number has been drawn, and he has an induction postponement until after his May 28 graduation.

The draft probably will eliminate Smith from the Relief roster for the North-South All-Senior All-Star Game at Canton, Aug. 14.

The Charles T. Auch Insurance of St. Paul, Minn., coming in with 300, also commands attention, as do Voisinet Garments, Columbus, O., and Goldey Age Beverages, of Youngstown, O., both of which have 960 marks.

Pfeiffer men Friday also caused two of the three lead changes in the minor events. Freddie Bujack and Don Carter, of Detroit, shot 1,335 to take a firm grip on first place in the couples.

GOP Chairman Status In Doubt

Roberts Admits Role In Sale Of Hospital

WASHINGTON (P)—The future status of Republican National Chairman Wesley Roberts seemed likely today to depend on public reaction to an explanation of his role in a hospital sale.

Roberts told a Kansas legislative investigating committee at Topeka yesterday he was proud of his part as a public relations man in helping sell a fraternal insurance organization's hospital building to the state of Kansas in 1951.

The national chairman asserted that Alvin McCoy, Kansas correspondent for the Kansas City Star, had set out in a "calculated plot" to destroy his usefulness as chairman.

McCoy, in a statement, said he had simply written the facts.

Roberts also said he thought John McCormally, reporter for the Hutchinson News - Herald, was helping McCoy.

McCormally said his "stories will speak for themselves" and that he was "working for my editors, not helping" Alvin McCoy.

Roberts got an $11,000 fee in the $110,000 sale but denied he had used political influence or had lobbied in connection with the transaction.

Some witnesses in the state investigation have said the building, on state property, either already belonged to Kansas or would re-

BOY 4½ QUALIFIES FOR LIBRARY CARD.—Lance Kerr, a determined and literary young man at 4½, browses at the public library in Los Angeles after applying for—and getting—a regular library card entitling him to all borrowing privileges. Skeptical librarians tested him on the two qualifications for a card: he read from a book selected at random, then printed his name in legible fashion.

Lance left for home with six books.

Post seeks more blood donors for the visit of the Pittsburgh bloodmobile to Columbiana next Thursday, March 19, when the bloodmobile will be stationed in the High School auditorium from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Ninety-five donors have been listed to contribute toward the quota of 125 pints. Volunteers are requested to contact Mrs. Pauline Drexler, Mrs. Doris Kendrick, Mrs. Olive Fry or Mrs. Ruth Hogue.

The public library will be the subject of consideration at the meeting of the Columbiana Mothers Club at 8:30 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. William Starnes, Salem Rd., with Mrs. D. W. Bailey as associate hostess. Mrs. Willard Ferrall will give a book review.

A TONSIL screening program for more than 350 pupils who have their parents' consent will be carried out next Wednesday in the Columbiana schools, conducted by Mrs. Ruth Gloss, school health nurse, Mrs. William B. Arn, registered nurse, and Dr. Harry Bookwalter. A second screening will be conducted later by Dr. Robert M. Durkin, Columbiana county health commissioner.

At the meeting of the Garden Club in the Presbyterian Church at 1:30 p.m. next Tuesday, Mrs. J. R. Gilchrist will show slides. Mrs. George Keller and Mrs. Thomas Woodward will be hostesses.

Rev. F. Olin Stockwell, last missionary out of Communist China, will speak in the Columbiana Methodist Church at 8 p.m. Monday.

The U & I class will serve a spaghetti supper in the basement of the Christian Church from 4 to 7 p.m. next Friday, March 20.

The executive committee and chairmen of committees of the Business & Professional Women's Club will meet at Bundy's restaurant at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Oil Dispute Talks Collapse

Mossadegh To Reject Latest British Offer

WASHINGTON (AP)—British-Iranian negotiations to settle their two-year-old dispute over Iranian oil nationalization have virtually collapsed, diplomatic officials reported today.

Prime Minister Mossadegh of Iran is expected shortly to reject the settlement proposals presented him Feb. 20 by Prime Minister Churchill's government.

Behavior Unpredictable

Authorities said Mossadegh's behavior is so unpredictable that no one can say confidently that he will reject the British proposals. However, all available information in Washington leaves no reasonable doubt that he has decided on such action.

What effect this would have on

Iran's internal political fight in relation to the Russians is a matter of speculation here, some of it apprehensive.

Would Give Him U.S. Money

Settlement of the oil dispute would give Mossadegh quick control of large sums of money—up to 100 million dollars advanced by the U. S.—to put his economic system on its feet, and thereby perhaps ease the political situation.

Iran broke diplomatic relations with Britain last fall. The U. S. has acted as go-between since that time. The current round of negotiations began when U. S. Ambassador Loy Henderson went to Tehran in December after lengthy consultations in Washington.

Britain's Feb. 20 offer was endorsed by the U. S. last Saturday as "reasonable and fair."

Mossadegh has told Henderson, however, that in his opinion the proposals would saddle Iran with "economic bondage" for years.

from Moscow, where he stood in the bitter cold in Red Square for the funeral of his friend Joseph Stalin.

The Czech radio issued the first bulletin on his illness yesterday. It said he had suffered an "acute attack" of pneumonia and pleurisy, a chest inflammation. A second bulletin a few hours later reported a "rapid decline in blood pressure and an onset of circulatory failure."

The sudden announcement and subsequent bulletins were broadcast by Prague radio in a pattern similar to the Moscow announcements on Stalin's last illness.

The latest announcement was signed by 11 doctors, including three Russian physicians called to his bedside in an effort to save the Czech leader's life. It reported:

"Comrade Klement Gottwald first went to sleep around 0600 hours (6 a.m.) after an unrestful night. After a short and quiet sleep, his condition rapidly deteriorated.

"At 0815 (8:15 a.m.) a disturbance developed in the nervous system and he lost consciousness, but this time his already serious condition worsened."

"His blood circulation and breathing have been maintained only by uninterrupted and tireless medical efforts," the bulletin continued.

Before the new report, Prague radio had broadcast the text of the previous medical bulletin every hour on the hour. In between, the radio played uninterrupted solemn music. This, too, was in the same pattern as the Russian announcements on Stalin.

Gottwald was absent from his office a year ago because of another illness, reportedly Burger's Disease—a circulatory ailment which also affected the late King

George VI of England.

Politically, the Jewish Red chief has been reported in disfavor with the Kremlin for more than a year because of the failure of Czechoslovakia to meet Russia's demands upon its industry.

Observers felt that he came out on top, however, last December when a rival, Communist party boss Rudolf Slansky—another Jew—and 10 other top leaders were hanged in Prague after a mass purge trial. It was said that Gottwald's friendship with Stalin had assured his top position, but the Russians still were not satisfied with the Czech administration.

While Gottwald lay apparently dying in Prague, a mystery developed concerning the whereabouts of a second Soviet satellite dictator. Hungary's Jewish-born Premier Matyas Rakosi has not returned to Budapest from Moscow, although Gottwald and other satellite chiefs were back in their capitals by noon Wednesday.

Budapest and Moscow have remained silent about Rakosi since he attended the Stalin funeral ceremonies.

Wilhelm Pieck, 77-year-old president of Communist-ruled East Germany, also has been reported seriously ill. He was said to have been stricken the day before Stalin's illness was announced and was unable to go to the Soviet leader's funeral.

The thick-set, bushy-browed Gottwald, born a peasant, was a native of Moravia. He joined the Czech Communist party almost as soon as it was formed after World War I. During World War II, he lived in Moscow and became premier of Czechoslovakia when the Communists emerged from the 1946 elections as the nation's large political party.

In 1948, he forced President Eduard Benes to agree to the formation of a Communist-dominated government. Gottwald became president in June of that year and Benes died three months later.

ONE OF THE MANY interesting exhibits at the Industrial Exposition at Stambaugh Auditorium in Youngstown, now in progress, is the water pump built by President McKinley's grandfather 105 years ago and used on the family farm near Lisbon. Admiring it are members of four historical society groups, a representative of the Sharon Public Library and Columbiana County's Sesquicentennial chairman, left to right: Mrs. Charles Snelv of Salem, Mrs. Ernest Goodman of Youngstown, Vincent Judge of Lisbon, Charles Snelv of Salem, Howard C. Aley of the Industrial Information Institute, which is sponsoring the Exposition through next Friday, Graham Kearney of Lisbon, Miss Dorothy Vance Hall of Sharon and Miss Eva A. Scott of Youngstown.

As may be imagined, the treatment of nephrosis is highly technical and must always be adjusted to the individual patient. In general, however, one must guard against infections, salt in the diet must be kept to a bare minimum, and many patients are better off on bed.

In addition to these measures, it may or may not be desirable to give certain medicines which increase the output of urine and thus carry off some of the excessive fluid. The use of cortisone or ACTH may also have to be considered, though it is not yet certain just what part these hormones will play in treatment.

It is not entirely clear whether nephrosis is increasing or not, and the cause of "true" nephrosis still has to be worked out, but it is certain that recent years have brought much better understanding of the condition and considerable improvement in methods of treatment.

In any event, the typical signs of nephrosis, regardless of cause, consist of gradually increasing fluid in the tissues—edema or dropsy—the presence of a kind of protein in the urine known as albumin, and a lessening of the same albumin in the fluid portion of the blood.

It is a painless condition but the water-logging of the tissues, is of course, uncomfortable.

The outlook for victims of true nephrosis is not bad, and although there is an increased susceptibility to infections, over half the patients recover and remain well.
